

James A. Banks

jbanks@uw.edu

James A. Banks is Kerry and Linda Killinger Endowed Chair in Diveristy Studies Emeritus at the University of Washington, Seattle. He was the Russell F. Stark Univeristy Professor at the University of Washington from 2000 to 2006 and founding director of the Center for Multicultural Education from 1992 to 2018, which has been renamed the Banks Center for Educational Justice. He is a past president of the American Educational Research Association (AERA) and the National Council for the Social Studies (NCSS). He is a member of the National Academy of Education and a Fellow of the American Educational Research Association. Professor Banks is a speicalist in social studies education and multicultural education and has written widely in these fields. His books include Cutural Diveristy and Education: Foundations, Curriculum, and Teaching; and An Introduction to Multicultural Education, Sixth Edition. His edited books include The Encyclopedia of Diveristy in Education (4 vols), and Citizenship Education and Global Migration: Implications for Theory, Research, and Practice.

Professor Banks has given lectures on citizenship education and diversity in many different nations, including Australia, Canada, China, Cyprus, England, France, Germany, Greece, Hong Kong, Ireland, Israel, Japan, Kenya, Korea, Malaysia, Norway, Portugal, Russia, Scotland, Singapore, Sweden, Turkey, and New Zealand. His books have been translated into Greek, Japanese, Chinese, Korean, Turkish, and Arabic. Professor Banks has six honorary degrees. An interview and video archive of his career is at <https://education.asu.edu/inside-the-academy-of-education/honorees/james-banks>