

Scientific Excellence in Education

Space exploration invites a special encounter between curiosity and the desire to understand the universe in which we live together with values of excellence: seriousness, perseverance and the ability to cope with a variety of challenges. When this encounter occurs in a learning environment, its results and outcomes are impressive and inspiring. On creative learning, Israeli space and new entrepreneurship.